

NALS

m, although they in an International to play naturalized which the first half played was laid out architect who was course was laid out ure which are re- yards in length; is eens of fine culture int day go is not e course record—a ork Downs profes- he match. Royal e recently. It is of s been on modern yal Montreal are e game in Canada as a consequence visit of the Ryder ips of Canada, the women's amateur e brought back the States, defeating d included Chuck ers of the western hile Stein was a hich attracts he United States. al nature are the teur tournaments g them there is an eurs being staged in which C. Ross hampion; Donald f 1925 and the o be among the and open are to and the Ontario lington Golf and women's match , Canadian open ment competition lthough she has r work as secre- Golf and Tennis e a strong game. n, Andrew Kay, rrick, Scarboro, n, Toronto Golf. n, a team of the eaves for Great in matches with 'British Seniors' match will take and the British e visiting teams rlier at Adding- e selected from f Club; F. A ix Fraser, Rose- onto Golf Club; Golf Club; Dr. J ; C. Y. Stanier, ead Golf Club wa Golf Club; Dr. Courtenay, ; Geo. L. Rob- chanan, River- M. McGuire, Simcoe, Ont.; Club; H. H. F. Matthews, ing, Brantford n.

Aubrey Boomer

Abe Mitchell, who was detained in England by illness

Above: George Gadd

A. G. Havers

G. A. Philpot, manager

Members of the all-Canadian Team of professional golfers to play the British Ryder Cup team in matches at the Toronto Golf Club, June 18 and Royal Montreal Golf Club, June 21, were selected by the executive of the R. C. G. A. The team comprises four western and six eastern players. The inclusion of the western professionals makes it truly national in composition

Left: Archie Compston

Right: George Duncan

Before sailing for home on June 22, via the Canadian Pacific steamship, Empress of Scotland, members of the British team will meet the strongest golfers in America. It is the first appearance on Canadian courses of George Duncan and Arthur Havers. Duncan, Ray and Havers have each won the British Open Golf Championship

THE BRITISH RYDER CUP TEAM AT TORONTO AND MONTREAL, JUNE 18 and 21

Photographs by Canadian Pacific Steamships

Below: C. A. Whitcombe

Left: Fred Robson

Right: E. R. Whitcombe

Below: Ted Ray, Captain

