Top Left—A dance frock of hand painted Permanent Moiré,—a fabric by Canadian Celanese Limited,—contrasts its tailored belt with a feminine bow.

Middle Left—Scallops here and there add individuality to this spectator suit of Crepe Opalika—a new tweed effect originated by Canadian Celanese Limited.

Lower Left—Printed Voile in a flowery design sees to tea or plays contract, assured of its smartness. Fabric by Canadian Celanese Limited.

Inner Right—Permanent Moiré, an important weave by Canadian Celanese Limited, gives fashion interest to this spectator ensemble, in Japanese Red and White.

Outer Right—This dress of Crepe Noraine, a fabric by Canadian Celanese Limited, with the new short sleeves is "cut out" for an active sports career.
