

The Mood for Music

AFTER dinner talk begins to pall—you do not want solitude, but you do look upon silence as the height of sociability. The flickering shadows come and go—your imagination just waits to be stirred—that is the Mood for Music, Good Music.

And how happily it is gratified when you can drink in melodies played by artists you admire yet need not even turn to applaud—when you can give yourself up completely to the enjoyment of the thrilling genius of the inimitable Paderewski, or the brilliance and sympathy of Bauer, or Cortot or Hofmann or any of the world's greatest artists!

Only one instrument in all the world can do that for you—the Duo-Art. Superior in itself as a piano capable of reproducing every shade of expression exactly as recorded by the artist, it is also the only reproducing piano offering the choice of the world's best music. For the great majority of the virtuosos of the day record exclusively for Duo-Art, the library of which is a compelling reason for its preference.

The DUO-ART Reproducing Piano is installed only in pianos of peerless prestige—the renowned Steinway, the Steck, the world-famous Weber, and in Canada exclusively in the Mason and Risch. To see and hear any of these foremost instruments visit our showrooms—recitals gladly given with no obligation.

In Grand and Upright
Models

$950 up

We invite all readers of Mayfair to write for illustrated literature.

MASON & RISCH Limited

230 Yonge Street, Toronto. Branches Throughout Canada

C.P.R.

wife,
laugh-
to their
Quebec.
Province
not like to the
and

NADIANS

llinson, the daughter H. R. Mallinson, of d home the other day
prepare for her debut.
talented girl has been
n an English school, ishing at Les Tourtelles,

Sims, of Montreal, is Switzerland with her
who will attend school
few years.

and a desire to know there is to learn about is Philippa Bridges, journalist, lecturer
eler, into our midst.
niece of the English Robert Bridges, and a
Sir Thomas Bridges, Australia. She expects try and back in nine lea of obtaining first or a lecture tour—and

Lady Foster are once wa home after three ern provinces. It was call a busy holiday,
and his wife lectured terests of the League
y. They saw the Rockies and at the re legion and were
any social functions.
h, wife of the chair-
rio Hydro Electric
her two daughters,
have returned to stern holiday. While nell snapped on m, on which she

and, Lieut-Col. o Montreal after y in France and
ly