

For

Boehmer, the patronage most superb Madame I offered it to

The insidious year cup qui tele cell wit in To De

P

THE MEMBERS' ENCLOSURE

Mayfair, Nov

Mayfair, November,

ANOTHER WOODBINE PASSES

BY YORK

IT WAS a Woodbine of anomalies, this, the Ontario Jockey Club. It opened its season on a mid-week of scalding heat; and closed it in the winter in the air.

Yet Society foregathered. They may be the winds of summer but the Woodbine brought them back to town—our smart folk. The black coat and the white furs indeed, may be reckoned as the common new season. Coincident with their return, the débutantes announce their plans and the horizon with the Woodbine as their first white vogue will not be life, this winter. Cer

Opening day brought forth the most of the Meet. The Members' Enclosure, at least until a fine rain setting in from the lawn and the benches, to seek the fortunate were those ensconced with boxes.

It was an Opening that stressed the in Furs. But the black and white individual note of smartness and chic ensemble. It remained for the scarlet vibrant Rosy Morns in the flowering picture.

THEIR EXCELLENCIES did not so there was none of the springtime vice-regal arrival in the time-honored minds me, that the autumn session Ottawa brought out the state coach for many years. Invariably of late years inaugurated in the winter, with the Governor General has driven up to motor or sleigh.

the Lieutenant-Governor ostentatiously. But it was so soon the race between races, there was his Honor was one morning coat. I recall of the O. J. C. was another I did not see another good-looking young man in dress and with the most conspicuously smart among the London's youth, members strolled the benches; with bowlers and gre

UCH as one may describe as something of a return can be no denying it. Here as in Paris, I pr the black coat and the of the white furs undeniable there is a danger of being "gloomy." I do hope the white vogue will not be life, this winter. Cer

the Opening was not without thrill of waiting one's turn to get one's motor into the enclosure, either one will be side-part or with some trim will be in luck and find it waved on by unrelenting Some where near the

and taking one's first look at the lawn and in the stands in its smartest costume and there are the thrills and post debts do love to be paid for the man with the supreme tingle of all

Top of page: A group in the vicin on Opening Day. His Honor the Governor of Ontario; Mrs. William of Hamilton; Mrs. W. D. Ross, Mrs. Brown and Miss Michie, all of

Centre row, from left: Miss Ruth with Miss Betty Lumbers, both with Mr. Edgar Ogilvie with Miss Brown and Miss Mary Tudhope

Bottom group: Miss Mary O'Connor, Mr. Frank P. O'Connor. Seated: J. Hick, Mrs. C. K. Rogers, Mrs. G.

Top group: Mrs. Ar Bowman and Mrs. M themselves on a b enclosure, before the Opening day and

At centre, from left: with Mr. A. E. Dye Ontario Jockey Club appears in backgrou Bishop, Canada's far Arthur Miles and L

Lower group: Mrs. Christie, Mrs. T. Nordheimer in one

10 9 8

27 26 25 24 23 22 21 20 19 18 17 16 15 14 13 12

0 inch 1 cm 0 cm 1 2