

John D. Dayton,

Bar Bar B. Ranch,
Alberta, Canada.

Minette hesitates a moment, and then, with equal shyness she takes out her own card. As she hands it to Dayton, he sees the wedding ring on her finger. His joyous look is dashed as he stares hard at it, but when Minette has turned away with Nora, he reads the card in his hand:

Mlle. Minette de Dupin

In his boyish delight in discovering she is unmarried he is on the verge of rushing after her. But instead laughs, shakes his head and says:

"Mademoiselle ---that's French for Miss. But it won't be Miss long, if the Man from Canada can help it".

Birdie Dayton, upon her return home from Atlantic City find the letter from her husband's uncle, and is thrown into panic. She finally gets in touch with Dick. The two are at their wits ends to know what to do. They have come to the end of their resources, and aware that the uncle may turn up at the apartment any moment, they realize that there is due to be an exposure of their fraud. They quarrel violently, Dickie accusing Birdie of extravagance with her gambling mania, and she retorting furiously that their money has gone to buy gifts for that "French cat at Pilgrims", meaning Nora (Miss
