

MAYFAIR GOES SHOPPING

An exquisite breakfast dish—an authentic reproduction of Old Sheffield has two good-sized covered sections set in a frame that fits over a hot water compartment. The little spirit lamp beneath adds to the usefulness of this beautiful silver piece. Ellis Bros., Toronto.

This small sconce of hand beaten copper is the work of a disabled soldier at the Handicraft Shop, in the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, and a set may be used with fine effect on the walls of living room or den. The mellow gleam of the candle reflected in ruddy copper diffuses a soft glow that has an artistic and restful effect. Pieces such as this are ideal for the visitor to tuck away as souvenirs,—would make a lovely wedding gift, and should be interesting where a change in the scheme of home lighting is being considered

The business-like barometer below has a very delicate frame of fruitwood, exquisitely carved, measuring from tip to tip of the frame only five inches. This too is in the Handicraft Shop in Montreal
