

SOCIETY AT THE ROYAL

The Royal Winter Fair Horse Show was never more brilliant from the viewpoint of Society than this November. It was a foregathering of notable horsemen and women from the United States in association with the best we have to offer in this country in the way of horses and riders. Top of page: Masters Allan Eaton, Billy Northgrave, and Douglas Cleland, three of the clever riders among the juveniles

Second group of three includes two sons of one of the most noted patrons of the turf in his day, the late Sir Clifford Sifton: Mr. Jack Sifton, of Winnipeg, on extreme right; Major Clifford Sifton (centre) of Toronto, and Mr. Jack Hamilton, the Sifton's trainer

Below, at centre: Mrs. Eric Phillips, of Oshawa, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin, wearing a wrap of gold brocade with black fox trimming. Mrs. Phillips is one of our most distinguished women riders

Below: Mrs. Beverley Baxter, wife of the editor-in-chief of the London Daily Express. Mrs. Baxter arrived in Toronto just prior to the Royal Winter Fair, en route to Vancouver, to spend Christmas with her mother. Mrs. Baxter wore a gold lame evening wrap, with collar of beige fox, over a frock of watermillon pink chiffon

Below, at extreme right: Miss Margaret Scott-Griffin, granddaughter of the late Sir William Mackenzie (on left); Mr. "Chick" Foster, of Toronto and Lady Joan Villiers, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Clarendon, of Pitt House, London, England. Lady Joan is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Scott-Griffin, during her visit to Toronto
