The CUMBERLAND

HEPPELWHITE MOTIF

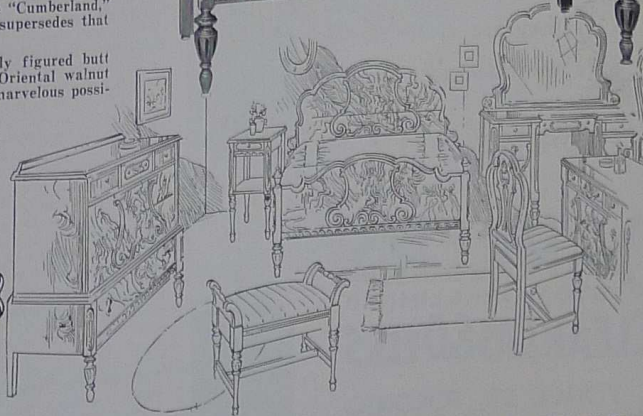

A RECORD of literary accomplishments stamped Richard Cumberland as the most distinguished dramatist of the 18th Century—a record that has afforded his memory greater prominence than he probably enjoyed during his lifetime.

Following an entirely different line of endeavor, George Heppelwhite, unlike Cumberland, enjoyed prominence during the period of his achievements, while his fame as one of England's foremost masters of cabinet craft has lived down through the centuries. Lightness, delicacy and grace were among the distinguishing characteristics of his creations.

The delightful manner in which McLagan Artisans have adapted the quaint charm and rhythmic lines of the Heppelwhite motif to this more modern creation, the "Cumberland," bestows upon it an impressive beauty which supersedes that of Heppelwhite's finest creations.

Fashioned of genuine walnut, with beautifully figured butt walnut panelling enhanced by the charm of Oriental walnut and "beeswing" satinwood, it emphasizes the marvelous possibilities of rare woods, skilfully employed.

Furniture by McLagan may be secured from representative furniture stores throughout Canada.
